

ACCU-SORT®

FAST Weigh™ Static

Real-time control and data collection

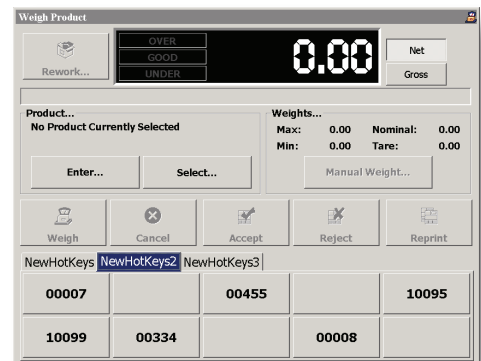

Touch-screen interface

Rugged industrial design

Scalability for labeling, production counting and more

Overview

Accu-Sort's FAST Weigh Static scaling system provides a centralized control and repository to manage your weight capture and labeling requirements. A single master product table is drawn upon for net and tare weight control and maintenance as well as serialization of cartons. A touch-screen user interface makes it easy to operate the control station. Programmable 'HOT KEYS' make it easy to select and switch products. Visual indicators on screen provide instant accept/reject feedback to the operator.

Technical Highlights

The FAST Weigh Static system links a series of manually operated bench scales to accomplish the following:

- Ensure accurate weight control for production process
- Automatically compute net product weight by subtracting tares from each product container.
- Check net weight against tolerance range
- Generate bar-coded weight and product ID label which accurately and legibly defines the container contents, and meets UCC-128 Code specifications
- Provide weight accuracy reports by individual scaling stations
- Compute product weight give-away on fixed weight items
- Centralize weight and product data collection for generation of production reports and upload to the host computer
- Maintain the weight file data in both the scaling controller and the central Accu-Sort computer for maximum flexibility
- Collect and store all production information in the FAST Weigh Static system computer and generate real-time detailed and/or summary production reports
- Flexibility – automatic and manual batch processing modes from single FAST controller; eliminates need for separate controllers to drive separate processes; lower initial capital investment
